INTRODUCING INNOVATION SOUTH

Innovative modular company, Done Group, opens an office in Denver, CO.

Denver, CO, USA – March 17, 2017 – Done Group is pleased to announce the addition of its American headquarters in Denver, CO.

The addition of this office will facilitate Done Group’s plans for expansion in the American market. Being in the Denver area will enable the company to maintain superior customer service to its expanding clientele. The new office will unite the team, allowing a more collaborative approach with their qualified partners and provide further cross-border opportunities. Done Group is proud to bring their unique product to the American construction industry and bring forward a new, sophisticated approach to modular construction.

“We have been working hard to educate and promote the benefits of modular construction to the North American market,” says Business Development Manager, Darren Barnes, “We are looking forward to our continued expansion into the United States, and welcome new opportunities for modular efficiencies.”

The American headquarters is located at Suite 230, 9250 E Costilla Ave, Greenwood Village, CO, 80112.

About Done Group

Done Group is passionate about the construction industry and continuously explore ways to improve and innovate conventional methods. Our team has built using traditional methods and prefabrication over the last 28 years and this has allowed us to realize what we believe is the best way to build. Done Group focuses on custom whole room modular construction that does not compromise design or creativity. Our modules are manufactured locally and we collaborate with qualified engineers, architects, manufacturers and qualified sub-trades in order to provide superior products and services to our clients across North America.
